LIVELY DEBATES IN PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 30.—In the House of Lords last night there was a very lively debate on the foreign policy of the government. Lord Beaconsfield, in a lengthy speech, warmly justified his recent attack on Mr. Gladstone. In the House of Commons there was also a warm debate on the government policy, but without any definite action, the debate was adjourned.

Official dispatches received at the foreign office expose the fearful outrages committed upon the Mohammedans by the Bulgarians.

THE PASHA'S FALL OUT.

VIENNA, July 30.—Caratheodori Pasha and Mehemet Pasha, the Turkish plenipotentiaries, who are here to complete the negotiations for the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, have quarreled and Mehemet Ali has abruptly quitted Vienna disgusted.

ATROCITIES.

LONDON, July 30.—Official dispatches received at the Foreign Office show that fearful outrages have been committed upon the Mohammedans by the Bulgarians.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says: The Russian Central Asian campaign has been suspended.

THE FRANCO-AMERICAN COMMERCE.

PARIS, July 30.—The delegates from the American Chambers of Commerce, appointed to attend the Convention in this city to arrange a commercial treaty between France and the United States, assembled here yesterday. Mr. Pollock presiding. The treaty was read and discussed. Messrs. Chotteau, of St. Louis, Colne, of Louisiana, and Leon Chotteau, the French Commissioner, were appointed a committee on organization. Another committee, consisting of Messrs. Kennard, of Boston, Rhodes, of Washington, and Leoser, of New York, were nominated to confer with the American Government Commissioners.

THE METROPOLIS.

Thomas, of Baltimore.

National Associated Press to the Star.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The Post's Washington special says Mr. Hawley has reported to the President that he has made a careful and patient examination of the charges filed against Collector Thomas, of Baltimore, and that the evidence fails to sustain them or to show that Collector Thomas has violated Executive Order No. 1. The charges were that Mr. Thomas, by aid of the Customhouse, has controlled Republican primary meetings in defiance of the President's Executive Order.

Financial.

WALL STREET, July 30.—At 10 A. M.—The stock market opened weak and paucily, and in a few minutes there was a decline of 1/4 to 2/8 per cent, the latter in St. Paul common; others of Granger shares declining heavily. The market has now become steadier, with a recovery of 1/4 to 1/8 per cent, the latter in St. Paul common.

A Field Marshal for Life.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The Times Washington special says: Gen. Butler in a conversation with a friend declared that he would not be a candidate for re-election to Congress. He has already served ten years as a Representative, and has no ambition for further honors in that direction.

Speaking about the reported candidacy of Grant for a third term, Butler did not believe Grant desired to run again. Butler favors the passage of an act of Congress creating Grant Field Marshal for life with a salary of $25,000 a year. Some recognition of this kind Butler thinks would be a fitting climax to Grant's illustrious career.

It Beats the Gatling.

A gun which promises to be the most terrible agent of destruction of modern times is on exhibition at the office of Patentes and Inventors, 38 Dey street. The rifle battery, as it is called, is so constructed as to deliver its fire either in a right line or in horizontal radiant lines.

Barrels ranging in number from six to twenty, are sufficiently apart to prevent heating from continuous firing and are fired successively, instead of simultaneously at the rate of twenty thousand shots an hour.

NEW YORK, July 30.—A San Francisco special says of the illumination and procession in honor of the Chinese Embassy: Those opposed to Chinese labor were anything but satisfied at the sight of ten thousand Mongolians promenading the streets yesterday, comfortably and seasonably clad in white suits, evidently in good physical condition, while so many citizens here are out of employment and in great distress.

SOL AND LUNA.

Their Shadow Dance Yesterday.

National Associated Press to the Star.

RAWLINS, WYOMING, July 30.—The observations of the eclipse of Rawlins have proved highly satisfactory. A few hours before the contact a very heavy wind sprang up and the astronomers experienced much difficulty in a proper adjustment, but about ten minutes before the totality the wind abated, and they were enabled to observe under favorable circumstances. Large numbers of citizens surrounded the observatory and equally large numbers stationed themselves on adjacent hills, the better to view the phenomena. Shortly after 2 o'clock the moon made her appearance, cutting off the right hand edge of the sun. It crept along slowly until three-quarters of the sun's disc was obscured, when darkness began to set in. At 3:14 p. m. the entire sun was eclipsed and the birds began to roost. Night hawks were seen flying over the hills. The totality continued one hundred and sixty-seven seconds. During the same Dr. Draper, of the New York University, succeeded in obtaining four excellent photographs of the corona which show no lines in the spectrum.

The observations of Prof. Parker showed the sun to be in a comparatively tranquil condition. No protuberances were seen. He saw only a continuous spectrum. The tinsmith of Prof. Edison successfully measured the heat of the corona. Prof. Norton's observations were conducted from the summit of a neighboring hill, and a comparison agreed with those of the other astronomers.

Reports from the other points of observation also show a good result. Cloudless skies favored their work, and the phenomenon of birds going to roost was perceived. Good photographs were taken during the totality all along the line of the eclipse. The astronomers felt highly gratified. Altogether they say that a more favorable observation of a total eclipse has never been made.

The deductions will not be officially announced until the St. Louis Convention when the various observers will submit their reports.

Nearly all will go to-day to Denver to fraternize and compare notes.

DENVER, COLO., July 30.—The eclipse here yesterday was a grand success, and the sky was perfect for observations.

As the period of totality came on, the sight from an elevated station was grand. An extreme dark shadow fell on Long's Peak, seventy-five miles distant; and, sweeping rapidly southeastward, covered the plain like a gray pall. To the north-west, clouds could be seen bathed in sunlight, and presenting a view of a beautiful sunset.

During the period of obscuration the moon appeared, like a huge black ball, surrounded by a beautiful circle of light, and as the sunlight suddenly burst forth again, the chickens crowed as though morning had dawned.

Astronomical parties as far as heard from failed to discover the planet Vulcan, although able to discern stars of the sixth magnitude. Professor Young reports that he discovered no ultra-red or ultra-violet lines, but that at the moment of totality all the Fraunhofer lines were beautifully reversed. This was the most important result of his observation, and confirms observations made in Siam. Both the H lines were also reversed. Very bright lines were seen near large R, which confirms Professor Pogson's observations. He also saw bright lines near F and A 474. Edison's tinsmith failed to work satisfactorily, and he used a thermopile, which caused an unsteady motion in the galvanometer.

Professor Colbert reports that his observations tend to show that the moon's path in the heavens lay a little farther to the southward than indicated by the lunar tables, or else that the estimate of the moon's diameter is too large, perhaps both.

The measures made by Mr. Easterday indicated that the corona extended out to an average about twenty-five minutes of an arc, corresponding to a distance of fully seven hundred thousand miles all around the sun. It was strongly striated and in the direction of the eclipse the rays were nearly straight, while above and below that line they were markedly spiral in their character, and some of the lines at the base formed an angle of not less than thirty degrees, with a prolongation of the sun's rays.

The chromosphere was distinctly seen by Professor Hough, indicating a thickness of some two thousand miles. The protuberances were not so prominent than at the west of the recent eclipse. Two rather pale ones were seen on the western side of the moon.

DALLAS, TEX., July 30.—Observations of the eclipse here yesterday were successful.

LAKE CHARLES, LA., July 30.—The eclipse was successfully observed here, with but slight interruptions by clouds.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Clouds entirely obstructed the view of the eclipse here yesterday.

DENVER, COLO., July 30.—Prof. Stone's party report from a chapter that they successfully observed all four contacts. The length of chords was observed by Prof. Stone, and ten transits of cusps by Prof. Upton.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

POISONED ON MILK.

CLEVELAND, O., July 30.—One day last week fifteen girls employed by Madame Somers, dress-maker, were poisoned by drinking milk. All recovered, however, but two sisters, Nettie and Mary Divitt, both of whom became seriously sick, and yesterday Mary died, while Nettie is still in a dangerous condition. It is thought that arsenic had been placed in the milk, and an analysis is being made.

A MYSTERIOUS TRAGEDY.

COLUMBUS, O., July 30.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Maria D. Kinna was found in a dying condition in her bed. A little child about four years old, who lives with her, stated that a man during the previous night had come to the house and asked Mrs. Kinna to go to bed with him, but she refused, and during a struggle which ensued the man took her by the throat and poured something into her mouth which made her vomit. Edward Sheehy was arrested and at once identified by the little girl as the man. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death from opium administered by herself or some other person unknown. The child is stated to be the illegitimate child of a well known Cincinnati man, and a lady prominent in society, who has, since her birth, married well. Mrs. Kinna had adopted it in place of her own child which had died.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL., July 30.—About midnight Sunday night a man named Isaac Hammill rode up to the farm-house of John Angels, a few miles south of this city, and asked to see his daughter. Angels refused, and at the same time called on his son, John Angels, a boy some fourteen years of age, telling him to shoot Hammill. The boy, obedient to his father's orders, took down an old shot gun, loaded with slugs, and shot Hammill through the head, killing him instantly. Angels and his son were both arrested and held to answer for the murder.

At 12 o'clock yesterday there were twenty-eight new cases and twelve deaths from yellow fever officially reported since 3 p. m. Saturday. Total number of cases to date eighty, of which thirty-three proved fatal.

Cairo, Ill., July 30.—Owing to the prevalence of yellow fever down the Mississippi River, the Board of Health and City Council have instructed the Mayor to issue a proclamation forbidding the landing of boats here that have fever on board, and prohibiting the landing of fever patients by the railroad trains within the city limits. All boats and trains will be inspected by competent physicians before landing. There is no alarm, but the city will at once be put in a good sanitary condition.

MEMPHIS, TENN., July 30.—The steam tow-boat John Porter, which has been so extensively advertised as infected with yellow fever, passed up yesterday on her way from New Orleans with a crew of twenty-six men on board, all well except one who feels bad from drinking ice water. The Porter was not permitted to land, but was furnished with supplies by the tug. Her officers deny that any yellow fever cases have occurred on board, saying the deaths were from over heating and ice water.

At 5 p. m. the wind had gone down, but after a conference the referee decided to postpone the race until to-day.

RAILROADED.

SHOT BY A POLICEMAN.

Another Bar-room Fight Which May End Fatally.

A murderous affray occurred about 4 o'clock last evening at the Port Sumter saloon, a one-story frame, on the northwest corner of Fifteenth and Plum streets. A disturbance was in progress there when Policeman Mitchell interfered and shot, it is believed fatally, a man named Gessler.

According to the story of the friends of the wounded man it would appear that one George Andrews, a canal boatman, had challenged Gessler, who of late has also been a canal boatman, to a friendly wrestle in the back yard of the Sumter saloon. While so engaged the policeman interfered, and ordered them to stop, but the men refused.

The policeman, in drawing his revolver, dropped his club, and Gessler stooped to pick it up, when the policeman, thinking probably that he intended to attack him with it, fired, the bullet entering Gessler's liver, and causing a wound which, it is feared, will prove fatal.

The other story is that Mitchell saw two men scuffling in the yard and told them to quit. On pushing aside an old lady, Gessler told him to leave her alone, as she was his mother. Mitchell grabbed for Gessler, when the latter pushed him to the wall, but afterwards released his hold. The officer again made for Gessler, who threatened to kill him if he didn't desist. Mitchell drew his revolver and Gessler picked up a club, when the former shot him.

The crowd talked considerably of lynching him, and the officer gladly availed himself of the protection of other policemen, who took him to Bremen-street Station, where he was afterwards released. Gessler was taken to the Hospital, where he was lying comfortably last night.

Another statement is that Mitchell let Gessler go, but afterwards repented, followed him over the bridge to an alley, and there took hold of Gessler, who caught the officer's cane and tried to take it from him. Mitchell, after a moment, loosened his hold on the cane and drawing his revolver pointed it at Gessler's heart.

A bystander named Krebs, who lives on Liberty street, caught his arm and told him not to shoot. Some one then knocked the cane out of Gessler's hands, and while he was stooping for it Mitchell fired.

This statement is corroborated by George Andrews, with whom Gessler was to have had a wrestling match, and also by Fred Schulock and Mrs. Kunigunda Schneider, who was an eye witness to the affair.

At the Hospital the doctors probed Gessler's wound, which is in the left side just below the ribs, but could not find the ball. Gessler is a butcher by trade in winter time, but during the hot months is employed by the Cincinnati Ice company. He bears a good reputation but occasionally will go on a spree.

The surgeons this morning report Gessler's condition as not improved and very critical. The ball has not yet been found, and if inflammation sets in he will undoubtedly die.

Chief Ziegler to-day issued an order for Mitchell, who was still on duty, to report to headquarters under arrest and await examination.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Probable Fatal Result of a Bar-room Row.

About 5 o'clock last evening a number of men were drinking in John Reitz's saloon, corner of Court and Linn streets. About the same time John Otway Cullahan, a young machinist, living at No. 263 Cutter street, accompanied by a couple of friends, entered the saloon and found Joseph Vedder and John McCormack throwing dice. A man named Jim Welsh was also there. Cullahan wanted to join in the game, but met with a refusal. The result was that the four mentioned above got into a quarrel. The bar-tender, a boy, ran for a policeman, whereupon Cullahan and Welsh left the saloon. They had almost reached the other side of the street when the sharp report of a pistol rang out, and Cullahan, clapping his hand to his head, dropped like a log in the gutter. When picked up he was bleeding profusely from a bullet wound immediately behind the left ear. After calling Dr. De Courcy his wound was partially dressed, and then he was taken to the Bettis-street Hospital, where Dr. Charles Muscroft, Jr., attended him. The bullet was extracted. It was flattened and had been imbedded in the skull, portions of which had to be cut away to get at the bullet. The wound is pronounced an exceedingly dangerous one.

After the affray the police arrested Joseph Vedder, John McCormack, Jim Welsh and Fred Wiechering, and took them to the Ninth-street Station. Shortly after, some nice bungling was done by our police. Sergeant Gant received an order from Chief Ziegler to release Vedder, and he was consequently discharged, promising to appear in the morning as a witness. Next it was found out that he is the man wanted most, suspicion pointing strongly to him as being the man who fired the shot. It was ordered that he be arrested, but up to this morning he could not be found. Ziegler says he released Vedder on the recommendation of Dr. Maley.

Cullahan was still alive at noon to-day, and his pulse
